This video is intended to introduce you to CourseLink's quizzes and rubrics.

CourseLink quizzes allow for a quantifiable measurement of learning throughout a semester. They can evaluate a student's learning progress and provide feedback to help them improve. As a professor, you can also see the areas in which your class needs the most support. An additional benefit is that quizzes from previous courses may be imported to a current course, making the transition process across semesters seamless.

Implementing quizzes into CourseLink allows for the creation of an infinite number of question libraries, or sections within those libraries. These questions are not permanent; they can be removed or edited at any time. In order to reduce the risk of academic misconduct, these questions within each section can be shuffled and different combinations of questions can appear on each quiz, given that the shuffle question setting is selected.

Another benefit to quizzes is the possibility of adding the lockdown Respondus browser, which is integrated directly within CourseLink.

Rubrics are an assessment tool that allows for a fair and consistent evaluation of assignments across an entire class. Any rubric that is created or imported within a course is automatically saved and is available in the Course Admin section. This is very handy when using the rubric across multiple assignments within a course.

A benefit of using rubrics is that they can greatly increase the rate of which assignments are evaluated. They are incredibly effective in large class settings, such as a discussion forum. Rubrics offer an incredibly easy way to integrate assignments within the gradebook. By affiliating an assignment or discussion with a rubric, the submission can be marked and directly transferred into the gradebook with feedback and rubric visible to the students. There is no need to record grades externally, as CourseLink rubrics used within the gradebook provides the service directly to you.
